Dissension In Nazi Ranks Hinted Anew

Hitler Says Any Who Oppose Reich's Stand Will Be Dismissed

By International News Service

Recurrent reports of new dissension within the ranks of Nazi Germany's high command came to the fore in striking fashion today as a result of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's speech before 250,000 German war veterans at Kassel, yesterday. From the international viewpoint, the most important angle of his address was the Fuehrer's defiance of Anglo-French "encirclement," and it was his intention that his words in this regard should be emblazoned in the headlines of the foreign press. But significant also was his firm warning that anyone within the Reich who "fails to meet the critical test" will be dismissed and dishonored "irrespective of person or the post he occupies." For many weeks rumors have been current that Hitler was having difficulties with the army high command and only a few days ago the conservative British newspaper Yorkshire Post reported that Hitler had launched a new purge to clean out more than 35 generals and minor officers opposed to policies that might involve Germany in war.

Other Reports Published

The London News Chronicle not so long ago published similar reports. All have met with either denial or disdain in Berlin. In view of these persistent reports, the question is asked: why has Hitler not pressed his claims to Danzig and the Polish Corridor? And the answer is given: because he is having trouble with his army. It has long been known that conservative elements in the Reichswehr (the German army) were not entirely in sympathy with Hitler's warlike stand last September, when he threatened to provoke general hostilities unless he was given the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia. At that time, it was freely rumored that many high officers of the army were convinced that Germany could not emerge victorious in a long conflict, that a clash with Britain and France at the time would have been suicidal. Hitler got what he wanted without recourse to war, but reports insist that many of his military advisers remain firmly opposed to any new territorial adventure that might precipitate war.

Brownshirt Move Hit

In addition, it is a known fact that army leaders are anything but sympathetic to attempts of the Nazi party to include the Brownshirt battalions within the ranks of the regular military forces. Hitler, as supreme commander of the army, is the nation's military as well as political leader, but a certain amount of old-line autonomy has still been preserved within the Reichswehr.

MEXICO CITY, June 5—Firemen and soldiers dug among the ruins of the little town of Zatepec today for possible additional victims from the fire which virtually razed the village and took 70 lives, most of them women and children. The blaze started in a wooden moving picture theatre and spread rapidly to the rest of the town. The dead were found in the smoldering wreckage of the cinema, but others were believed to have been trapped in homes and factories, including a $750,000 sugar mill, which were wiped out in the flames.

Another Steamer With 200 Aboard Returns To Nazi Seaport

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 5—Reports that the German steamship St. Louis, carrying several hundred refugees, had docked near Third street in Miami Beach this morning sent a detachment of police rushing to the scene. The investigating officers reported back to headquarters however, that there was no foundation for the report.

MIAMI, Fla., June 5—Coast guardsmen, who were briefly in action to prevent any of 907 German Jewish refugees from entering the United States illegally, today held the belief that their apprehensions were groundless. The Hamburg-American liner St. Louis carrying the refugees entered American water, and cruised along the Miami shore for about half an hour, but later headed out to sea in a southeasterly direction. It was considered likely that the liner was merely cruising about to amuse passengers until arrangements can be made to land them in Cuba, or possibly in the Dominican Republic. The refugees were refused immediate landing in Cuba last week, and the American national co-ordinating committee has been (Continued on Page Two)

TREASURY AIDE URGES CHANGES FOR RECOVERY

John Hanes, Drafted To Aid Government, Draws Picture Of Business Gain

THREE CHANGES LISTED "Overhaul, Renovation" Cited In Address; Unemployment Problem Discussed

WASHINGTON, June 5—Tax revision to permit production of wealth by private enterprise will "do more to revive this country and hasten substantial material and economic recovery than any other single thing," congress was told today by Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes. Drawing a picture of 10,000,000 unemployed, idle machinery and empty smokestacks, Hanes saw tax revision as a way "to reach out into the ranks of the unemployed and bring the able-bodied back to work in profitable enterprise."

Further, the undersecretary said, tax revision to advance the profit system of the nation is an alternative to government conscription of labor and capital which, he emphasized, is "unthinkable in America." Hanes, a business man drafted by the administration for membership in the Securities and Exchange Commission and then as the tax expert of the treasury department, testified before the house ways and means committee in support of a program to eliminate tax deterrents on business. "Duty to Correct" The undersecretary told the committee that "it is our duty" to correct the tax structure wherever it may be "operating against the necessary incentive and is interfering with legitimate and necessary enterprise" in the production of wealth. Hanes made no specific recommendations but followed the suggestions outlined recently by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. These suggestions included: 1. Elimination of the undistributed profits tax; 2. Reduction in surtax rates in the high income brackets; 3. Revision of various corporation taxes that are considered retarding the progress of the recovery movement.

Hanes said he hoped that congress would follow Morgenthau's recommendation to set up a national commission to study and report back to congress by "not later than Jan. 11, 1940" for "a general overhaul and complete renovation of the tax law."

MIAMI WATERS SEARCHED FOR TWO MEN, CHILD

CINCINNATI, June 5—Searchers dragged the rain-swollen Great Miami river today for the bodies of two men and a five-year-old boy, drowned when their rowboat capsized. Another man and a woman were saved, according to reports, when James Patrick, 28, one of the boat occupants, was aided by Buck Dryden, 23, in helping Mrs. Minnie Bennett, 31, to shore. Those who perished in the swirling waters were Frank Bennett, 45; his son, Floyd Glenn Bennett, 5, and Mickey Baxter, 28, all of Cincinnati. The Bennetts, Baxter and Patrick were going fishing off a sandbar when Baxter became excited by the tossing of the boat in the swift water and stood up, capsizing the craft.

Even if we maintained the high level of employment of 1929," he said, "we would have 6,000,000 persons unemployed." He pointed out that each year, there are 600,000 persons added to the United States labor supply. At that rate, he said, it would require investment of $4,200,000,000 a year in capital to provide work for the normal increase in the labor supply. Hanes warned the committee that there are only two ways of producing wealth — one by conscription of labor and capital by the government, and the other by providing incentive to the profit system. Observing that the first method is "unthinkable in America," the undersecretary asserted that it "becomes our duty" to provide "legitimate and necessary incentives" to private enterprise in production of wealth.

Problem Discussed

WASHINGTON, June 5—Tax revision to permit production of wealth by private enterprise will "do more to revive this country and hasten substantial material and economic recovery than any other single thing," congress was told today by Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes.

Drawing a picture of 10,000,000 unemployed, idle machinery and empty smokestacks, Hanes saw tax revision as a way "to reach out into the ranks of the unemployed and bring the able-bodied back to work in profitable enterprise."

Further, the undersecretary said, tax revision to advance the profit system of the nation is an alternative to government conscription of labor and capital which, he emphasized, is "unthinkable in America."

Hanes, a business man drafted by the administration for membership in the Securities and Exchange Commission and then as the tax expert of the treasury department, testified before the house ways and means committee in support of a program to eliminate tax deterrents on business.

"Duty to Correct"

The undersecretary told the committee that "it is our duty" to correct the tax structure wherever it may be "operating against the necessary incentive and is interfering with legitimate and necessary enterprise" in the production of wealth.

Hanes made no specific recommendations but followed the suggestions outlined recently by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

These suggestions included: 1. Elimination of the undistributed profits tax; 2. Reduction in surtax rates in the high income brackets; 3. Revision of various corporation taxes that are considered retarding the progress of the recovery movement.

Hanes said he hoped that congress would follow Morgenthau's recommendation to set up a national commission to study and report back to congress by "not later than Jan. 11, 1940" for "a general overhaul and complete renovation of the tax law."

In view of the economic situation of the country, Hanes said "in my opinion we do not have much time to do it."

Hanes said that revision of taxes was only a segment of the problems facing the country. Ways must be found to encourage capital to invest funds and to promote enterprise, Hanes said in pointing out that under our domestic economy it requires $7,000 in machinery and tools to keep a man at work.

"Even if we maintained the high level of employment of 1929," he said, "we would have 6,000,000 persons unemployed."

He pointed out that each year, there are 600,000 persons added to the United States labor supply. At that rate, he said, it would require investment of $4,200,000,000 a year in capital to provide work for the normal increase in the labor supply.

Hanes warned the committee that there are only two ways of producing wealth — one by conscription of labor and capital by the government, and the other by providing incentive to the profit system.

Observing that the first method is "unthinkable in America," the undersecretary asserted that it "becomes our duty" to provide "legitimate and necessary incentives" to private enterprise in production of wealth.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, June 5
MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a fairly breath-taking one, with the passage of startling and unforeseen developments of an unpredictable nature. There may be bewildering situations, agitating and confusing as well as of deep and curious origin. With all the devastating action there may be delays, obstacles and frustrations to be successfully managed if romance and adventure hold their own.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden and surprising developments, with startling developments of obscure or mysterious origin. Unique and curious matters rise to baffle and confuse, and they are attended by stubborn obstacles, postponements and disappointments. With these resolutely managed, there is every prospect of high adventure and probably sensational romance. Beware of "vaulting ambitions" and try to maintain poise.

A child born on this day may have extraordinary equipment, mentally, emotionally and spiritually, to accomplish great deeds. Its progress may be conspicuous in unusual lines, unless it is defeated by overzealous ambitions.

OPEN TUBE AND DEATHS BLAMED FOR 'SUB' TOLL

Builder Of Thetis Relates Facts Of Tragedy; Water Found In Torpedo Room

"The forward door was not closed—either through damage or some other cause.

"The crew opened the after door, thinking that there was no water in the tube. But water rushed out and overpowered them, forcing them to skip out and try to shut the door.

"But water again overpowered them, and they were able to shut the door only partially. Then they had to skip out of that compartment into the next one, to make certain of the closing of the bulkhead.

"The two forward compartments therefore were full of water, but no one drowned on that occasion."

This portion of Johnson's explanation presumably accounted for the fact that the Thetis went down nose first, her bow embedding itself in the mud and shingle of the bottom while her air-full stern headed skyward, protruding eighteen feet above the surface at low tide and raising high but temporary hopes that all might be saved by means of a hole cut through the Thetis' skin by oxy-acetylene torches.

Johnson described the rescue efforts in detail, and told how four men were able to reach the surface by using the Davis escape apparatus.

"Everything possible was done to save the crew," he said, "but the difficulties were terrific. "Four men got out by using the Davis lung, but after that use of the escape chamber became impossible. Three members of the personnel died within the escape chamber, apparently from heart failure."

This angle of the explanation faces sharp questioning in the House of Commons in London on the grounds that the Thetis, carrying twice her normal complement, was overcrowded, cutting in half the supply of oxygen that should have been available.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, June 5

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a fairly breath-taking one, with the presence of startling and unforeseen developments of an unpredictable nature. There may be bewildering situations, agitating and confusing as well as of deep and curious origin. With all the devastating action there may be delays, obstacles and frustrations to be successfully managed if romance and adventure hold their own.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden and surprising adventures, with startling developments of obscure or mysterious origin. Unique and curious matters rise to baffle and confuse, and they are attended by stubborn obstacles, postponements and disappointments. With these resolutely managed, there is every prospect of high adventure and probably sensational romance. Beware of "vaulting ambitions" and try to maintain poise.

A child born on this day may have extraordinary equipment, mentally, emotionally and spiritually, to accomplish great deeds. Its progress may be conspicuous in unusual lines, unless it is defeated by overzealous ambitions.

Builder Of Thetis Relates Facts Of Tragedy; Water Found In Torpedo Room

5 forward torpedo tube," Johnson said.

"The forward door was not closed—either through damage or some other cause.

"The crew opened the after door, thinking that there was no water in the tube. But water rushed out and overpowered them, forcing them to skip out and try to shut the door.

"But water again overpowered them, and they were able to shut the door only partially. Then they had to skip out of that compartment into the next one, to make certain of the closing of the bulkhead.

"The two forward compartments therefore were full of water, but no one drowned on that occasion."

This portion of Johnson's explanation presumably accounted for the fact that the Thetis went down nose first, her bow embedding itself in the mud and shingle of the bottom while her air-full stern headed skyward, protruding eighteen feet above the surface at low tide and raising high but temporary hopes that all might be saved by means of a hole cut through the Thetis' skin by oxy-acetylene torches.

Johnson described the rescue efforts in detail, and told how four men were able to reach the surface by using the Davis escape apparatus.

"Everything possible was done to save the crew," he said, "but the difficulties were terrific. "Four men got out by using the Davis lung, but after that use of the escape chamber became impossible. Three members of the personnel died within the escape chamber, apparently from heart failure."

This angle of the explanation faces sharp questioning in the House of Commons in London on the grounds that the Thetis, carrying twice her normal complement, was overcrowded, cutting in half the supply of oxygen that should have been available.

School Transfer Appeal Petition is Unopposed

No counter petition against the proposed transfer of the section of Muhlenberg school district west of Darby creek and south of Cochran road was filed Saturday with the county board of education, the last day for filing a remonstrance.

A petition requesting the transfer of the territory to Jackson school district was filed with the board 30 days ago. It contained 25 signatures, reported to be 100 percent of the electors of the district.

The petitions for the transfer of two sections of the Muhlenberg district to the Jackson district will be considered by the county board of education at its meeting on June 7.

A counter petition has been filed with the board against the transfer of the territory bounded on the west side by Darby creek, on the south and east sides by the township lines and on the north by the Five Points-South Bloomfield road. The petitions contained 44 signatures. The counter petition contained 35 names.

Steps to have sections of Muhlenberg school district transferred to Jackson district followed the action of the State High school board in annulling the Muhlenberg high school's charter effective June 30. This action had no effect on the grade school. Transfer of territory involves grade pupils.

The transfer of any territory, regardless of the number of signers on the petitions, is at the discretion of the county board of education.

WALL STREET JOY

Wall Street was full of rumors last week that the Securities and Exchange Commission suddenly had surrendered J. P. Morgan and partners, together with other high-powered money moguls, were not to be summoned to testify on investment banking before the Monopoly Committee, it was rumored.

The report brought tremendous jubilation to Wall Street. New Deal regulation of the market, it was said, was finished. The good old Coolidge days were back again.

To those on the inside, however the jubilation was empty. It was true that certain witnesses were notified that they need not come to Washington. Among these was J. P. Morgan and company, Charles Mitchell, ex-head of the National City Bank, who was sued for income tax invasion and is staging a comeback as chairman of Blyth Company. They had rented lavish suites in Washington hotels, and canceled their reservations.

Rumor had it that there was a serious difference between SEC chairman Jerry Frank and SEC Commissioner Leon Henderson; also that Joseph Kelly, SEC attorney, had resigned in protest over the delay.

However, the Wall Street rumor was wishful thinking. For instead of dropping the investment banking investigation, the SEC is coming back stronger than ever in September.

REAL FACTS

What actually happened was this:

Wearied from five months double duty as legislators and investigators, the Congressional members of the Monopoly Committee proposed adjourning the investment banking investigation

until September when they will have had a Summer's rest.

Chairman Frank approved the plan. Leon Henderson felt that it would be better to hold a few preliminary hearings in order to pep up the SEC investigators. In the end, however, he agreed to wait until next September.

Hearing a garbled version of what happened, Joseph Kelly, crusading young attorney, resigned. But when informed of the facts, he withdrew his resignation.

Inside fact is that the SEC plans some startling revelations one of them almost similar to the Whitney expose. The Commission has caught one firm in malpractices which may result in penitentiary penalty. Most significant point is that if the governors of the Stock Exchange had listened to the SEC after the Whitney trial, and put through certain reforms, this particular scandal would not have happened.

AT THE GRAND

As the heroine of "Dark Victory," the Warner Bros. picture which opened yesterday at the Grand, Bette Davis enacts what she herself considers the finest part she has ever portrayed in the course of the brilliant career that has established her indubitably as the greatest actress on the screen today.

The role is so unlike any that Bette has ever done before and the picture itself is so far from the beaten track of banal, trite theatrical formula that it is likely to create more comment and discussion than any production which has come from Hollywood in many a day.

It is a poignantly tender love story, one of the saddest and yet bravest tales ever told. On its face it is an up-to-the minute story about hard and brittle modern people, but under that bright surface it is a narrative of elemental emotions as old as the world itself.

The young doctor who shares the romance with Bette is played by George Brant, and other important characters in the story are portrayed by Humphrey Bogart, Geraldine Fitzgerald (newcomer from the stages of Dublin and New York), Ronald Reagan, Henry Travers, Cora Witherspoon and Dorothy Peterson.

Additional rain Saturday boosted the total for the month to date to .91 of an inch. During the entire month of May only .58 of an inch of rain was recorded. Sunday's highest temperature was 81 degrees. During the night the temperature dropped to 62 degrees.

SIX BOARDS TO MEET

Six boards of education of county schools are scheduled to meet Monday night. Employment of teachers will be the principal business before the majority of the boards. Those scheduled to meet are the boards of Pickaway, Darby, Scioto, New Holland, Perry and Muhlenberg townships.

Annabella, Robert Young in Film

WITH laughter its sole mission, and zanies its emissaries of hilarity amid the snowy grandeur of the Alpine mountains, "Bridal Suite," with Robert Young and Annabella, opens Wednesday at the Cliftona theatre. Aiding and abetting the leads are Walter Connolly as a psychiatrist, Reginald Owen as a penniless English lord anxious to marry off his daughter to money, Gene Lockhart as Young's father, Arthur Treacher as another member of the English nobility and Billie Burke as Young's fluttery mother.

School Transfer Appeal Petition is Unopposed

No counter petition against the proposed transfer of the section of Muhlenberg school district west of Darby creek and south of Cochran road was filed Saturday with the county board of education, the last day for filing a remonstrance.

A petition requesting the transfer of the territory to Jackson school district was filed with the board 30 days ago. It contained 25 signatures, reported to be 100 percent of the electors of the district.

The petitions for the transfer of two sections of the Muhlenberg district to the Jackson district will be considered by the county board of education at its meeting on June 7.

A counter petition has been filed with the board against the transfer of the territory bounded on the west side by Darby creek, on the south and east sides by the township lines and on the north by the Five Points-South Bloomfield road. The petitions contained 44 signatures. The counter petition contained 35 names.

Steps to have sections of Muhlenberg school district transferred to Jackson district followed the action of the State High school board in annulling the Muhlenberg high school's charter effective June 30. This action had no effect on the grade school. Transfer of territory involves grade pupils. The transfer of any territory, regardless of the number of signers on the petitions, is at the discretion of the county board of education.

JEFF SAUNDERS, INMATE OF COUNTY HOME, DEAD

Jeff Saunders, 78, resident of the Pickaway County Home for the last five years, died Sunday. Mr. Saunders is survived by one sister, Mrs. Minerva Balsiger, of Lucasville, O. Mr. Saunders was a former resident of Ashville. He was born May 18, 1860.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. in the Rinehart funeral home, the Rev. Charles Essick officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

BAN WEDDING MARCH

BUDAPEST. — Lohengrin's wedding march was played for the last time at the wedding ceremonies April 30th in the Hungarian Catholic churches. Cardinal Justinian Seredi, Primate of Hungary has strictly banned all theatrical music from church ceremonies. Only ecclesiastical melodies may be played at church wedding henceforth.

WALL STREET JOY

Wall Street was full of rumors last week that the Securities and Exchange Commission suddenly had surrendered J. P. Morgan and partners, together with other high-powered money moguls, were not to be summoned to testify on investment banking before the Monopoly Committee, it was rumored. The report brought tremendous jubilation to Wall Street. New Deal regulation of the market, it was said, was finished. The good old Coolidge days were back again.

To those on the inside, however the jubilation was empty. It was true that certain witnesses were notified that they need not come to Washington. Among these was J. P. Morgan and company, Charles Mitchell, ex-head of the National City Bank, who was sued for income tax invasion and is staging a comeback as chairman of Blyth Company. They had rented lavish suites in Washington hotels, and canceled their reservations.

Rumor had it that there was a serious difference between SEChairman Jerry Frank and SECommissioner Leon Henderson; also that Joseph Kelly, SEC attorney, had resigned in protest over the delay.

However, the Wall Street rumor was wishful thinking. For instead of dropping the investment banking investigation, the SEC is coming back stronger than ever in September.

REAL FACTS

What actually happened was this:

Wearied from five months double duty as legislators and investigators, the Congressional members of the Monopoly Committee proposed adjourning the investment banking investigation

until September when they will have had a Summer's rest.

Chairman Frank approved the plan. Leon Henderson felt that it would be better to hold a few preliminary hearings in order to pep up the SEC investigators. In the end, however, he agreed to wait until next September.

Hearing a garbled version of what happened, Joseph Kelly, crusading young attorney, resigned. But when informed of the facts, he withdrew his resignation.

Inside fact is that the SEC plans some startling revelations one of them almost similar to the Whitney expose. The Commission has caught one firm in malpractices which may result in penitentiary penalty. Most significant point is that if the governors of the Stock Exchange had listened to the SEC after the Whitney trial, and put through certain reforms, this particular scandal would not have happened.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

As the heroine of "Dark Victory," the Warner Bros. picture which opened yesterday at the Grand, Bette Davis enacts what she herself considers the finest part she has ever portrayed in the course of the brilliant career that has established her indubitably as the greatest actress on the screen today.

The role is so unlike any that Bette has ever done before and the picture itself is so far from the beaten track of banal, trite theatrical formula that it is likely to create more comment and discussion than any production which has come from Hollywood in many a day.

It is a poignantly tender love story, one of the saddest and yet bravest tales ever told. On its face it is an up-to-the minute story about hard and brittle modern people, but under that bright surface it is a narrative of elemental emotions as old as the world itself.

The young doctor who shares the romance with Bette is played by George Brant, and other important characters in the story first secretary of the German Embassy in Washington. He resigned two years ago in protest against the "un-Christian" policies of his government.

70 KNIGHTS, MEMBERS OF AUXILIARY AT SERVICES

Approximately 70 Knights of Pythias and members of the Pythian Sisters attended the annual memorial service held in the lodge Sunday afternoon.

A. R. Brane, superintendent of the K. of P. Children's home, Springfield, presented the memorial address. Music was furnished by an orchestra from the home. Thomas Heffner, Lancaster pike, sang two numbers.

As names of the deceased members of the lodge and Pythian Sister were read, in the service, carnations were placed in a vase.

DARBYVILLE HOMECOMING EVENT TO BE JULY 21-22

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—CAMELS give smokers the equivalent of
5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

HERE is today's big news for smokers who want the most for their money in smoking pleasure at its best. Read the convincing comparisons made between cigarettes by a group of prominent scientists. In a leading laboratory, 16 of the largest-selling cigarette brands were tested impartially with these results:

- 1 CAMELS were found to contain MORE TOBACCO BY WEIGHT than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.
- 2 CAMELS BURNED SLOWER THAN ANY OTHER BRAND TESTED—25% SLOWER THAN THE AVERAGE TIME OF THE 15 OTHER OF THE LARGEST-SELLING BRANDS! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

3 In the same tests, CAMELS HELD THEIR ASH FAR LONGER than the average time for all the other brands.

Right now is an ideal time to switch to Camels—AT THE START OF THE SUMMER SEASON, when you're apt to be smoking more. Camel certainly is the cigarette for steady smoking. You'll appreciate its COOLNESS, its COST-LIER TOBACCO that cost so little per smoke! See how much longer you can enjoy a slow-burning Camel. Note the striking difference in Camel's milder, more delicate taste and fragrance. Try Camels now—America's luxury smoke that every smoker can afford!

ENJOY A QUIET OFFICE

Enjoy freedom from the constant clatter of typewriters that beat a daily tattoo on nerves. Whether consciously or unnoticed, the din of the ordinary typewriter plays havoc with health, comfort and efficiency. A miniature boiler factory is not conducive to straight thinking and accuracy. You can make your office a better place in which to work if you replace noise with a Remington Noiseless.

Remington NOISELESS

Writing Perfection With Silence!

The Remington Noiseless has established itself as the world's finest typewriter and the new model entrenches it still more firmly in this position of supremacy. Now, more than ever, does the Remington Noiseless surpass any other typewriter in the beauty of its matchless printwork, faultless manifolding and clean-cut stenics. It does everything demanded of a typewriter not only better but with the invaluable quality of silence. It is the quiet of the Noiseless rather than the clatter of an ordinary writing machine that pitches the tone of an office to maximum efficiency—quiet that permits operator, executive and all nearby to think and work to best advantage. Here is writing perfection with silence.

Certainly, a trial without obligation. Call the Remington Rand office today.

SAVING AMERICA

MAJOR-GENERAL George Van Horn Moseley knows some very astonishing things. We are on the very edge of a Communist revolution. The Nazi and Fascist movements in this country "are trying to sustain our democracy" and "the others are trying to destroy it."

And what is to be done in this dreadful crisis? To keep our American Reds from seizing power at Washington, the President should "release the army to protect life and property." The situation is so perilous that "it ought to be handled in five minutes from the White House." To save America's free institutions, "the army should take over." "If I were in the White House," he says, "the first thing I would do would be to release the Army, so that it could protect lives and property from our enemies within."

This is military psychology complicated by an incredible case of jitters. What armies are for is to fight, and to "take over" when a nation is not able otherwise to carry on; but has such a crisis actually arrived? Do we need military government right now, instead of our normal operation of free institutions under civilians?

Readers of the General's incredible testimony before the Dies Committee may feel that what this witness needs is some bromide and a good rest. The public is certainly not persuaded that anyone of Major-General Moseley's temperament and outlook, whether active or retired, should "take over."

WAR STORES

THE German people are in need of many of the simplest necessities of life. Laboring patiently, for long hours and full weeks, they get but little for it in material satisfactions and comforts. But the army is well provided for. Nearly everything in the way of national effort seems directed to that end.

"Supplies of food and raw materials are practically on a war-time footing," says a recent dispatch from Berlin. "Food hoarding has been undertaken on a gigantic scale. Canneries, day-in and day out, are putting up meats, vegetables and fruits as reserves. Besides food, gasoline, copper, nickel, textiles and dozens of other commodities essential for the conduct of war are being stored. The food shortage experienced by the average citizen reflects the scale on which the state is accumulating stocks for the army to live on."

Presumably there is as liberal provision for guns and planes as for the troops themselves. The Nazis obviously are making vast war preparations.

World At A Glance

Congressman Martin Dies' committee on investigation of un-American activities in this country has uncovered considerable evidence of Nazi-istic, Fascist-istic and Communist propaganda throughout the United States, but it is noteworthy that it hasn't linked the names of any very prominent individuals with racially or religiously intolerant philosophies in our national midst.

For instance, the attempt to identify Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton with anti-Semitism fizzled the minute the G. O. P. manager was put on the Dies committee's witness stand. Hamilton not only denied the suggestion of bigotry on his part, but he did it mightily convincingly by recalling that he was opposed, as a highly influential Republican, to the gubernatorial candidacy of the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod in last year's Republican primaries in Kansas—and he opposed the clergyman-aspirant as an intolerant. Hamilton also reminded the investigators that his "first campaign in public life was marked by opposition to the Ku Klux Klan." All this is of record, too. The chairman only had to remind the committee of it to prove his case conclusively.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN.

McREYNOLDS PLAYS HOOKEY
WASHINGTON — Justice James C. McReynolds will not be in his seat today when the Supreme Court rings down the curtain on its 1938-39 term.

His absence will not be due to illness. He is just jumping the gun on his four-month Summer vacation. While his eight colleagues wind up the Court's work by handing down a long list of decisions, McReynolds will be taking things easy 600 miles away in the town of Elkton, Ky., his birthplace, visiting with boyhood friends and his brother John, a San Francisco physician.

The Court originally had fixed its adjournment date for May 29. But under the pressure of an extra heavy docket, Chief Justice Hughes added another week to the term in order to clean up unfinished cases.

Meanwhile McReynolds had arranged a reunion in Elkton and refused to change his plans notwithstanding the uncompleted calendar. He sat with the court May 29, but next day packed his bag and started on his vacation while his colleagues remained at their desks.

McReynolds will return to Washington after his Kentucky visit and occupy his bachelor apartment in the Capital for a while. He has informed intimates he will not go to Europe this year because of unsettled conditions.

ABNER'S AUTO

Sauntering out of the club house of Washington's exclusive Burning Tree Golf Club, U. S. Treasurer William A. Julian spied Abner Ferguson, general counsel of the Federal Housing Administration. Four balls were lined up in a row before Ferguson. He was practising putting.

"Abner," challenged Julian, "I'll bet you an automobile to a nickel that you can't put one of those balls in the cup in one stroke."

"I'll take that bet, Bill," replied Ferguson.

The first two balls missed but the third went straight to the mark. Julian groaned as Ferguson let out a whoop of joy.

"Now remember, Bill," he insisted, "you said an automobile. It's got to be a car that can come out here under its own power. You've got to pay that bet on the club grounds where we made it."

Julian agreed reluctantly and the next day set out to pay his bet. Making the rounds of second-hand car lots, he finally found just what he wanted—a $15 jallopy of 1925 vintage. For an additional consideration the dealer agreed to drive it out to the Club the following day.

Just as the car reached the grounds, it expired. And there it remains, with a sign attached by Julian, reading: "Won (Continued on Page Three) to fight another great war, in spite of the rising tide of resistance and countless warnings? It is hard to believe that Hitler and his associates can be so rash as to try to break through the iron ring now being forged around the "axis" countries, and take what they want of the outer world's riches. Especially if Russia is added to the defensive circle, and with resources far inferior to those of 1914, how can they hope to win?

SMALL BORE AGITATORS

From talks I've had with members of the Dies committee I gather that they generally regard our "ism" propagandists as small caliber fanatics or prominence-seekers, who probably never would have been heard of by name but for the notoriety they're receiving now.

The question arises: Why advertise 'em at all? The inquisitors' answer is that this advertising is unfavorable; makes 'em ridiculous. And otherwise, the inquisitor say, some one of the bunch might, by a fluke, develop into a Hitler, a Mussolini or a Stalin—or cause a lot of trouble at least.

I'm skeptical, but who knows? About the only really eminent American I ever heard of, as a member of one of our intolerant groups, is Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black, who admits that he did join the K.K.K. But he did it perfunctorily, as an ordinary secret society—when he was young and innocent, and the K.K.K., I suppose, was comparatively mild. From remarks he subsequently has made I gather that he wishes he never had done it at all.

THEY OCCUR PERIODICALLY
These set-ups develop periodically.

The first one I ever heard of was the original post-Civil War K.K.K. There may have been earlier ones. I don't know. Anyway, the initial K.K.K. in the reconstruction period, was understandable. In due course it blew up. After an interval there followed the Know Nothings. I can almost but not quite remember when then Senator Allen G. Thurman of Ohio could almost have been presidentially nominated, if he hadn't previously been a Know Nothing, which previously had frazzled, leaving him out on a limb.

Still later (I recall it well) the American Protective Association (principally anti-Catholic) made its appearance. Having married a Catholic girl, I wasn't eligible.

Right after the World war, up popped the second K.K.K. That, likewise, is several years gone into the long beyond. Today we have Nazi-ism, Fascism and Communism. I suspect that they're transitory, too.

Now You Can Get A New Personality

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE been visiting a good many clinics lately, mostly in the eastern part of the country, and feel that some of the things I have seen will be of interest to my readers, so I will describe them.

One of the most astonishing was a clinic on plastic surgery for the repair of disfigured noses and other facial disfigurements. I saw patients, some of them before and after the operation, and the change was almost unbelievable. Large, hooked noses of hideous appearance are turned into straight Greek noses. Large, hypertrophied noses are made to conform to the proper proportions and angles of the face. Plastic surgeons have learned that they must study their patients carefully before operations. This constitutes probably the greatest single advance in their work. They have learned to set up a standard of facial proportions and make careful measurements before the operation to see that the final result will conform to these ideal measurements. In no branch of surgery has more improvement been made by those who specialize in it.

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Face-Lifting

I also saw some amazing results from face-lifting, in which sagging chins and flesh around the eyes were improved without leaving a single visible scar.

One of the important features of the work is the change in personality that occurs in the patients. A recent study of patients in the Graduate Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania showed that in almost all cases those with facial disfigurement had an emotional handicap that was directly dependent upon the disfigurement. This is quite natural, and reasons for facial repair were very practical, ranging all the way from a desire to get married to a desire to get a good job, in both of which cases the facial disfigurement was a handicap.

One patient said she hated her mother and sisters because "they are so beautiful and do not realize what I go through."

Regarded as Handicap

With many of these cases for years the scar, hairlip or misshapen nose had been looked on as a handicap. Its importance in the social and emotional adjustment is unconsciously all embracing. It is the "hook" on which the patient has hung all inadequacies, all dissatisfactions, all procrastinates, and all unpleasant duties of social life, and he has come to depend on it not only as a reasonable escape from competition but as a protection from social responsibility.

In many cases, because of this attitude of dependency the operation does not lead to a complete mental adjustment and plastic surgeons are beginning to utilize psychiatrists in their work in order to complete readjustment.

There is practically no form of facial disfigurement, either as a result of scars or natural or hereditary changes, which cannot be improved by the modern facial surgeon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. P.: "Is the use of injections for the relief of varicose veins advisable? If so, can it be administered by the ordinary practitioner or is the use of a specialist advisable?"

Answer: The injection treatment of varicose veins is very satisfactory. It can be administered by a general practitioner.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendingen has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendingen, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SYNOPSIS
SARAH ANNE MELTON, minister's daughter and close friend of JUDITH DRAKE, daughter of luxury, had a childhood romance with JACK COURTNEY, who attains sudden fame by flying the Pacific.

YESTERDAY: Sarah Anne learns that Bing Wells, a local boy, is responsible for linking her name in the newspapers with Jack Courtney.

CHAPTER THREE

BING WELLS' mocking voice took a long time to answer Sarah Anne's question. "What did you tell Jack?" she repeated.

"I mentioned your name as his high school heart. That was enough. The reporter could find out what he needed from the young aviator. Why be so angry? I was giving you plenty of good, free publicity."

"You've never gone around dispensing sweetness and light. I'm afraid I don't understand it at all," Sarah Anne mused.

"Don't you want to see yourself in the movies, the newsreel, the rotogravures?"

Sarah Anne did not answer. If she had belonged there, if that pin which was tucked under a golden frounce on her party frock held continued meaning, she would have smiled gladly, from any page, any screen. But to hold on to something not freely given was to lose it forever. Love was like mercury. When you chased it, it rolled away. But if you cherished it, it did not touch it, it might stay.

And yet this man with his false ideals of help had held Judy's interest for the nine months he had been in town. She wondered why. Judith was so straightforward, so honest, so sincere.

"Do you want something?" Sarah Anne asked, and her lips smiled a little. "When people dispense compliments and favors they generally do."

"You're a smart girl. You know what Judith's father's factory makes, don't you?"

"Some kind of parts used in aviation, in ships. I don't know much about it."

"Right! You don't need to know much about it. I sit at a desk and try to help with promotion, you know. There's a contest on now, with a prize of $1,000 for the best testimonial as to the durability of—"

Sarah Anne was beginning to see a light. Faint and far-away. A testimonial, a girl whose favor he was trying to court by giving her a glamorous set-up.

The young man shrugged his thin shoulders, lighted a cigarette, sank back in his seat.

"The ship Courtney flew carried our engine. I checked on that. He probably would tell me to go take a nose dive if I asked for a testimonial but, if you suggested it, he might think it was a good stunt to boost his old home town's products."

Sarah Anne shook her head, but she wasn't annoyed so much as bored. She wanted to dump this man into the darkness and go down the winding road to the small city alone.

"Friendship and business don't mix. Besides, what good would it do me? I'd lose Jack's admiration, if he ever did remember me, which he probably didn't. Sorry, Mister Bing Wells, but you and I play different rules."

"Have it your way, honey. I thought I saw a glimmer of sense in your blue eyes—"

"Brown."

"Sorry. Your brown eyes. I'll go to bat on my own. Now if you'll stop at this corner I live two blocks down."

Sarah Anne stopped the car and Bing climbed out. He stood for a moment with his hand on the door and said: "Really love the flying guy, don't you? I figured you would go for the build-up. My mistake."

Riding along alone, Sarah Anne felt that something beautiful had been desecrated. Why didn't people

"I'm waiting," said Judith. "What did the young gallant want?"

look after their own lives? But that was what Bing was trying to do. He wanted that prize. Probably to show Judith he could win.

Judith was sitting in the parsonage swing, her dull gold frock a yellowish blur in the warm corner behind the honeysuckle vines.

"Hurry, Sally Anne, I'm waiting," she called. "What did the young gallant want?"

"One thousand dollars, but I thought you were in the clouds." She sat down on a large cushion on the top of the veranda.

"You mean he asked for it?" There was no mistaking the incredulity in the girl's voice. "Only indirectly." She explained about the testimonial. It was too bad to hurt Judith, but some day she had to wake up.

"I knew there was mischief afoot. So that's it. The lad wanted to borrow from me, so your pretty theory of making a grand impression on my slow-functioning consciousness is all wrong. He needs money in a hurry for something or other. I was so slow in seeing through him." She stretched her long brown arms. "He was like a dog or a child, sort of amusing to have around. But you said he wants a statement from Jack."

"Jack has a wise adviser, I imagine, hasn't he? And anyway, the endorsement's legal. So don't worry."

"That's just it. It isn't legal and Jack wouldn't know he was out of order. Before we could turn around our company would have the nicest lawsuit of its turbulent life."

This is strictly confidential, of course." She stood up and held out her hand. "Come on, let's run. I'll explain as we go."

But not until they stood crowded close together in the telephone booth at the nearest drugstore, did Sarah Anne know what it was all about or whom Judy was calling.

Then the manufacturer's daughter asked for San Francisco. "Jack Courtney, please. Hunt, won't you, tell you locate him?"

"Waiting for the bell to ring, she fanned her flushed face with the slim telephone directory and tried to make the matter clear to Sarah Anne. "The factory's been doing a lot of navy work and had to let out some orders, and the company which made Jack's engine got one of them. See how it looks? Just as though we're taking full credit. And how that concern would love to sue us! So, if we reach Jack before that worm does . . ." The bell

"Judith Drake. Remember?"

"Oh, sure! The tall girl with the red-gold hair and the amber eyes. Of course I recall her. Who wouldn't? I'm holding the line wide open."

He didn't mean anything, of course. But as Sarah Anne motioned to Judy she felt weak, and in the narrow confines of the booth she saw a ship going down, down the sky.

SAVING AMERICA

MAJOR-GENERAL George Van Horn Moseley knows some very astonishing things. We are on the very edge of a Communist revolution. The Nazi and Fascist movements in this country "are trying to sustain our democracy" and "the others are trying to destroy it."

And what is to be done in this dreadful crisis? To keep our American Reds from seizing power at Washington, the President should "release the army to protect life and property." The situation is so perilous that "it ought to be handled in five minutes from the White House." To save America's free institutions, "the army should take over." "If I were in the White House," he says, "the first thing I would do would be to release the Army, so that it could protect lives and property from our enemies within."

This is military psychology complicated by an incredible case of jitters. What armies are for is to fight, and to "take over" when a nation is not able otherwise to carry on; but has such a crisis actually arrived? Do we need military government right now, instead of our normal operation of free institutions under civilians?

Readers of the General's incredible testimony before the Dies Committee may feel that what this witness needs is some bromide and a good rest. The public is certainly not persuaded that anyone of Major-General Moseley's temperament and outlook, whether active or retired, should "take over."

WAR STORES

THE German people are in need of many of the simplest necessities of life. Laboring patiently, for long hours and full weeks, they get but little for it in material satisfactions and comforts. But the army is well provided for. Nearly everything in the way of national effort seems directed to that end.

"Supplies of food and raw materials are practically on a war-time footing," says a recent dispatch from Berlin. "Food hoarding has been undertaken on a gigantic scale. Canneries, day in and day out, are putting up meats, vegetables and fruits as reserves. Besides food, gasoline, copper, nickel, textiles and dozens of other commodities essential for the conduct of war are being stored. The food shortage experienced by the average citizen reflects the scale on which the state is accumulating stocks for the army to live on."

Presumably there is as liberal provision for guns and planes as for the troops themselves. The Nazis obviously are making vast war preparations.

World At A Glance

Charles P. Stewart

Congressman Martin Dies' committee on investigation of un-American activities in this country has uncovered considerable evidence of Nazi-fascist, Fascist and Communist propaganda throughout the United States, but it's noteworthy that it hasn't linked the names of any very prominent individuals with racially or religiously intolerant philosophies in our national midst.

For instance, the attempt to identify Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton with anti-Semitism fizzled the minute the G. O. P. manager was put on the Dies committee's witness stand. Hamilton not only denied the suggestion of bigotry on his part, but he did it mightily convincingly by recalling that he was opposed, as a highly influential Republican, to the gubernatorial candidacy of the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod in last year's Republican primaries in Kansas—and he opposed the clergyman-aspirant as an intolerant. Hamilton also reminded the investigators that his "first campaign in public life was marked by opposition to the Ku Klux Klan." All this is of record, too. The chairman only had to remind the committee of it to prove his case conclusively.

McREYNOLDS PLAYS HOOKEY
WASHINGTON — Justice James C. McReynolds will not be in his seat today when the Supreme Court rings down the curtain on its 1938-39 term.

His absence will not be due to illness. He is just jumping the gun on his four-month Summer vacation. While his eight colleagues wind up the Court's work by handing down a long list of decisions, McReynolds will be taking things easy 600 miles away in the town of Elkton, Ky., his birthplace, visiting with boyhood friends and his brother John, a San Francisco physician.

The Court originally had fixed its adjournment date for May 29. But under the pressure of an extra heavy docket, Chief Justice Hughes added another week to the term in order to clean up unfinished cases.

Meanwhile McReynolds had arranged a reunion in Elkton and refused to change his plans notwithstanding the uncompleted calendar. He sat with the court May 29, but next day packed his bag and started on his vacation while his colleagues remained at their desks.

McReynolds will return to Washington after his Kentucky visit and occupy his bachelor apartment in the Capital for a while. He has informed intimates he will not go to Europe this year because of unsettled conditions.

ABNER'S AUTO

Sauntering out of the club house of Washington's exclusive Burning Tree Golf Club, U. S. Treasurer William A. Julian spied Abner Ferguson, general counsel of the Federal Housing Administration. Four balls were lined up in a row before Ferguson. He was practicing putting.

"Abner," challenged Julian, "I'll bet you an automobile to a nickel that you can't put one of those balls in the cup in one stroke."

"I'll take that bet, Bill," replied Ferguson.

The first two balls missed but the third went straight to the mark. Julian groaned as Ferguson let out a whoop of joy.

"Now remember, Bill," he insisted, "you said an automobile. It's got to be a car that can come out here under its own power. You've got to pay that bet on the club grounds where we made it."

Julian agreed reluctantly and the next day set out to pay his bet. Making the rounds of second-hand car lots, he finally found just what he wanted—a $15 jalopy of 1925 vintage. For an additional consideration the dealer agreed to drive it out to the Club the following day.

Just as the car reached the grounds, it expired. And there it remains, with a sign attached by Julian, reading: "Won (Continued on Page Three)

It is hard to believe that Hitler and his associates can be so rash as to try to break through the iron ring now being forged around the "axis" countries, and take what they want of the outer world's riches. Especially if Russia is added to the defensive circle, and with resources far inferior to those of 1914, how can they hope to win?

Now You Can Get A New Personality

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE been visiting a good many clinics lately, mostly in the eastern part of the country, and feel that some of the things I have seen will be of interest to my readers, so I will describe them.

One of the most astonishing was a clinic on plastic surgery for the repair of disfigured noses and other facial disfigurements. I saw patients, some of them before and after the operation, and the change was almost unbelievable. Large, hooked noses of hideous appearance are turned into straight Greek noses. Large, hypertrophied noses are made to conform to the proper proportions and angles of the face. Plastic surgeons have learned that they must study their patients carefully before operations. This constitutes probably the greatest single advance in their work. They have learned to set up a standard of facial proportions and make careful measurements before the operation to see that the final result will conform to these ideal measurements. In no branch of surgery has more improvement been made by those who specialize in it.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Face-Lifting

I also saw some amazing results from face-lifting, in which sagging chins and flesh around the eyes were improved without leaving a single visible scar.

One of the important features of the work is the change in personality that occurs in the patients. A recent study of patients in the Graduate Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania showed that in almost all cases those with facial disfigurement had an emotional handicap that was directly dependent upon their disfigurement. This is quite natural, and reasons for facial repair were very practical, ranging all the way from a desire to get married to a desire to get a good job, in both of which cases the facial disfigurement was a handicap.

One patient said she hated her mother and sisters because "they are so beautiful and do not realize what I go through."

Regarded as Handicap

With many of these cases for years the scar, harelip or misshapen nose had been looked on as a handicap. Its importance in the social and emotional adjustment is unconsciously all embracing. It is the "hook" on which the patient has hung all inadequacies, all dissatisfactions, all procrastinations, and all unpleasant duties of social life, and he has come to depend on it not only as a reasonable escape from competition but as a protection from social responsibility.

In many cases, because of this attitude of dependency the operation does not lead to a complete mental adjustment and plastic surgeons are beginning to utilize psychiatrists in their work in order to complete readjustment.

There is practically no form of facial disfigurement, either as a result of scars or natural or hereditary changes, which cannot be improved by the modern facial surgeon.

Answer: The injection treatment of varicose veins is very satisfactory. It can be administered by a general practitioner.

That would make a lot of difference for a little money. Venetian blinds would help to cut the piercing rays of Summer sun. They don't interfere with ventilation. A very few dollars there would make a world of difference. Many timely things are being featured — right now at low prices.

GARDEN NOTES
When once established, an asparagus bed will go on yielding for many years without much attention. There are several varieties of asparagus, but either the Martha Washington or the Mary Washington should be grown when possible as both are much more nearly immune to rust than the other kinds.

The English ivy, Hedera helix, is one of the most effective evergreen ground covers when it is hardy. Allowed to trail on the ground it will endure colder weather than if trained over a wall or other structure to which its peculiar aerial roots make claim.

Bob Hope
Belle Baker, famous trouser of stage, screen and radio, will guest with Bob Hope on his weekly funfest Tuesday, June 6, at 9 p. m., over the NBC-Red network. Skinnay Ennis and the band will furnish the musical background for Miss Baker's songs.

FIBBER M'GEE AND MOLLY
Donald Novis will sing "New Moon and An Old Serenade" on the weekly Fibber McGee and Molly program Tuesday, June 6, at 8:30 p. m., over the NBC-Red network. The Four Notes will sing "When You And I Were Young Maggie" and Billy Mills will play "The Lady's In Love With You."

BENITA JOINS HUSBAND
Benita Hume, who is Mrs. Ronald Colman in real-life, will play the part of his wife, Queen Flavia, in the Radio Theatre's presentation of "The Prisoner of Zenda" tonight. Ralph Forbes has also been added to the cast that already includes Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and that veteran character actor, C. Aubrey Smith.

Having famous husbands and wives as acting teams is a specialty of Cecil B. DeMille's Radio Theatre, which is heard over the Columbia network at 8 p. m. Others who have appeared together on the program include Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone; and Fredric March with his wife, Florence Eldridge.

TWO FROM BERLIN MOVIE
Two fresh tunes from Irving

Berlin's new score for the musical "Second Fiddle," will be featured on Tommy Dorsey's June 7th broadcast. The songs, "Back To Back" and "I Poured My Heart Into A Song," will have vocal refrains by Jack Leonard and Edythe Wright. "Second Fiddle" will be released soon by 20th Century-Fox, starring Tyrone Power and Sonja Henie.

Tommy will also play his famous old "Song of India" arrangement, Skeets (Tenor Sax) Herfurt and all the crew will perform in the latest doggerel ditty, "I Want The Waiter (With The Water)," and Tommy will close the show with pure swing in "Old Man Harlem."

End of the Season, ALL CHANGE!

We've had our first taste of Summer. Winter drapes are down. We've gone over our Summer wardrobe. Now we wish we could afford to give the home a face-lifting for the hot months. Let's see...

It wouldn't cost very much to get gay slip covers for the rooms we live in most. They add a summery touch. A cool grass rug or two would give Winter carpets a rest. That would make a lot of difference for a little money. Venetian blinds would help to cut the piercing rays of Summer sun. They don't interfere with ventilation. A very few dollars there would make a world of difference. Many timely things are being featured — right now at low prices.

Find them quickly in the advertisements that appear daily in this paper — your guide to prudent buying. Advertisements tell the news of the world you shop in — just as the news columns tell of the world you live in.

ANDREWS AFTER TENTH; BIRDIES DROP TWO TILTS

COLUMBUS, June 5 — Nat Andrews, star hurler for the Columbus Red Birds, was to try for his seventh straight victory and his tenth of the season today as the Ohio squad sought to return to the winning column after dropping both games of a double-header to the league-leading Kansas City Blues.

The Blues outclassed the Birds in offensive and defensive play to win 6 to 4 and 7 to 1. Poor support was blamed for Columbus' defeat in the opener, in which "Nubs" Keinke allowed the visitors only seven hits. In the second the Blues took advantage of bases on balls and errors to win.

At Toledo the Mud Hens took over Milwaukee in both games, 9 to 8 and 11 to 3. However, both wins did not help move Toledo out of last place in the American association.

Meanwhile, the Louisville Colonels moved into sixth position in the pennant contest by beating St. Paul 5 to 4 and 5 to 0 on the same day.

Playing at Indianapolis, the Indians and the Minneapolis Millers took one game apiece during an afternoon workout. The visitors took the opener 5 to 2, but the Indians came back to win the second match 3 to 2.

REDS TO MEET TERRYMAN AGAIN AT POLO GROUND

NEW YORK, June 5—In first place in the National league with a three and one-half game lead, the Cincinnati Reds were to meet the New York Giants again today.

While the second-place St. Louis Cardinals were being rained out of a double-header at Boston, yesterday, the Reds were taking over the Giants 4 to 1.

Big Paul Derringer pitched for the River team and allowed 11 hits. Splendid support, however, kept the Giants from knocking out more than one run. The Ohioans chased New York's Carl Hubbell from the mound in the first inning.

YANKEES CLIMB TOWARD RECORD VICTORY STRING

New York Margin In A. L. May Be Greatest Of All Time

NEW YORK, June 5—The possibility that the New York Yankees will set an all-time high in victories and won and lost percentage was foreseen today as they continued their march toward a fourth straight American League pennant with only seven defeats in their first 40 games.

The club which many observers already are beginning to tab as the best yet apparently is going to prove it with cold figures, barring such a form upheaval that it will settle down finally as just another great team instead of the greatest.

With 33 victories against those seven defeats, the Yankees have a percentage of .825 in the standings and lead the pennant parade now by 8½ games as the season approaches the half-way point.

They could be overhauled, of course, or slump badly at the expense of their figures to date, but it doesn't seem likely due to their excellence in every department, not overlooking the reserves.

And the most unfortunate club in the majors today is the Boston Red Sox. They are just another good club in the American League. In the National they would be in the thick of a pennant race, or leading by a comfortable margin.

Win, Gain Half Game
When Red Ruffing hurled the Yanks to an 8 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers, scoring his eighth win of the season, the Yanks added a half game to their margin over the Red Sox and continued to breeze toward that Fall payoff. The Red Sox missed their chance to gain some ground because of their inability to do better than split a pair with the Cleveland Indians, whose precocious Bobby Fellers won his ninth game, 10 to 2, after which Mose Grove beat the Indians, 7 to 1.

The Chicago White Sox split even with the Philadelphia Athletics, the Sox taking the opener, 14 to 9, and dropping the nightcap, 11 to 6. The St. Louis Browns beat the Washington Senators twice, 5 to 4 and

New Hollanders Strong In Edge Over Sabina

Mike Helfrich's Old Hollanders won a brilliant 3-1 victory, Sunday, over Sabina, the game being played on the New Holland lot. Graves, New Holland twirler, was in his best form of the year, fanning seven and walking only one opposing batter.

New Holland's fielding was much improved, too, only one boot being charged against the countians.

BREAKFAST MEETING TO START CAMPAIGN FOR $600 TO HELP BOY SCOUTS

FUND CAMPAIGN SUPPORT URGED TO AID YOUTHS

Charles Riggs, Of Columbus, To Address Gathering Of Adult Workers

200 COUNTIANS ACTIVE

Movement Gaining Strength In Area; Activities Of Troops Recalled

Determined to again successfully obtain the goal of $600 necessary to maintain Boy Scout work in Circleville and Pickaway county, a large corps of volunteer workers will assemble Tuesday at an "Early Bird breakfast" to officially open this year's annual sustaining membership appeal. Herman Hill is chairman of the campaign and will preside at the breakfast meeting which will be held at 7:30 a. m. at the American Hotel Coffee Shop.

Speaking to the Scouters Scout fathers and friends of Scouting who will assist in the drive will be Charles M. Riggs, prominent Columbus Scouter. He is the father of an Eagle Scout and has been active in Scout work in the Southwest district of Franklin county for several years. Riggs is a member of the executive board of the Scout council, of which the Pickaway district is a part.

200 Boys Served

In answer to numerous inquiries about the work of the Boy Scout movement here, Campaign Chairman Hill explained today that it serves more than 200 boys here between the ages of nine and sixteen through the voluntary services of interested men. Adequate financial resources make possible the organization of Boy Scout troops and Cub Packs; the training of present and prospective leaders; maintenance of records and general administration; the promotion, supervision and direction of special activities and services; setting of standards for Scout advancement; recruiting of additional leaders; year around camping and outdoor program; and personal assistance and advice of trained leaders.

Administration of local Scouting affairs and the disbursement of sustaining membership funds are supervised and controlled by the Pickaway District Boy Scout committee, made up of approximately thirty representative citizens of Circleville and cooperating communities in the district. James I. Smith, Jr. is chairman of this group.

At the present time there are ten Boy Scout troops and two Cub Packs active in the Pickaway district. Four of the troops are located in Circleville while additional units are registered in Ashville, Five Points, New Holland, Williamsport, Tarlton, and Kingston. Cub Packs, for boys of pre-Scout age, are located in Circleville and Kingston. Circleville troops are sponsored by Howard Hall Post of the American Legion, the Methodist church, the Presbyterian church and the Second Baptist church.

Eight Counties Included

Affiliated with the Central Ohio Area Council, which comprises a federation of eight central Ohio counties, the Pickaway district Boy Scouts have the part-time services of a professional Scout executive. Now completing his third year in this territory, Howard Kautz resides in Lancaster and this year will direct the Summer camping program at the Scout Reservation. He pointed out today that Scouting, as founded by Lord Baden-Powell in England thirty years ago, is primarily a game, combining fun and adventure for every boy. A serious educational program through the various achievements and vocational subjects are behind all the play. Scouting offers a youngster a chance to test out his natural tastes and while still playing the "game" find out what he can do as a life work with the most joy and satisfaction to himself.

The stockings are made of nylon, a product of coal. Though it cost a cool million to produce the first four pairs it is hoped that similar stockings, which are runless, will eventually be marketed as low as 25 cents a pair.

Tommy Corcoran Hinted As Farley Successor

WASHINGTON, June 5—Democratic politicians are wondering today whether Postmaster General James A. Farley is being displaced by Braintruster Thomas G. Corcoran as headman in the New Deal's drive to get President Roosevelt a third term.

"Tommy the Cork," as the brain truster is affectionately called by the President, has taken charge of the undercover "renominate Roosevelt" campaign. He is trying to harmonize differences within the Democratic party, to line up delegates for the President and to raise a pre-convention Roosevelt campaign fund.

Corcoran is doing all these things, although Farley, the party's national chairman, has declared he will support the President for another term if Mr. Roosevelt decides to run again. And Corcoran has assumed this leadership even though Farley made a cross-continental trip presumably to test out third term sentiment for a personal report to the President.

Some Democrats believe Corcoran is trying to oust Farley as national chairman on the ground

JIM FORD BACK IN POLITICS IN RACE FOR MAYOR

James Ford, known to many 11th congressional district residents as Jim, is back in politics again after a brief layoff. He has filed his petition for the Democratic nomination for mayor in Chillicothe.

Ford is a former mayor. Two others, John Kellhofer and Walter Schaffer, have also filed for the Democratic nomination.

Mayor Harold Brown, Republican incumbent, is opposed in his party to date.

Ford, a former central committeeman for the Democratic party in the 11th district, was read out of the party at a meeting in Lancaster when James M. Lantz, of Lancaster, was named committeeman. Ford had opposed the election of Harold K. Claypool, Chillicothe, for congress.

Interesting program of fun and activities, render Scouting a unique organization in practically every community of the United States. It is one of three national organizations chartered by Congress and the Boy Scout movement claims to be the largest boys' organization in the world, Kautz revealed.

Information Available

Persons desiring more information about Scouting are invited to consult Smith or William Radcliff, district Scout commissioner. Troop leaders have indicated that they always welcome visitors at their weekly troop meetings.

BINKLEY DENIES DEATH CHARGES

Circleville Man Held For Grand Jury In Van Wert Tragedy

Denver Binkley, 28, of Circleville, has been bound to the Van Wert county grand jury under charges of involuntary manslaughter and driving an automobile when intoxicated. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. S. Giffin in Van Wert.

Binkley, driver of one of the autos figuring in the Memorial Day crash west of Van Wert that claimed the lives of Charles Urquhart of Elmhurst, Ill., and Julius Griner of St. Marys, pleaded not guilty in the arraignment. He was ordered held in the county jail in default of bond in the sum of $1,000. He was not represented by legal counsel during the hearing.

The warrant against Binkley was relative to the death of Urquhart, driver and sole occupant of the other car involved in the crash, and was signed by Sheriff R. B. Stevens.

Binkley, who was injured in the accident, was discharged Saturday morning from Van Wert County Hospital and was immediately placed under arrest.

There is continued improvement in the condition of Mary Griner, daughter of one of the victims, who is a patient at the hospital, suffering from severe leg injuries.

She was unable to attend funeral services for her father held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist Church in St. Marys. Burial was at Mendon, his former home.

Cecil Noecker down on 23 and his youngster family, have three feathered babies, two ducks and a crow. They live in a box home and are just coming along fine. Cecil said, They were given their good home after a hungry fox or crow had made a raid on them while in search of food. The two ducks were lost in a sewer drop but with a string noose around their necks they were drawn up to the top and to safety. As to how these will team up a little later, you're guess is as good as ours.

It is no secret in Washington that Corcoran and Farley are at odds. Corcoran is even credited with engineering the Tammany Hall coup that is reported to have placed a triumvirate in control of that organization. The triumvirate is said to include the present Tammany leader, Rep. Christopher Sullivan, Rep. James H. Fay and U. S. Marshal John J. Kelly. Fay and Kelly are called Corcoran men. If this report is true, it means Farley has lost his chance to control Tammany Hall, as his nominee for leader is Rep. Joseph A. Gavanagh.

All of Corcoran's maneuvers in the Tammany management are said to have the President's approval.

Wilmington Council Puts Up Cash for Playground

WILMINGTON, O., June 5—City Council has unanimously voted a supplementary appropriation ordinance providing $100 for the purchase of equipment for the city's W.P.A. recreation program this Summer.

BOOK ON MEN'S WEAR CONTAINS VALUED RECIPE

I. W. Kinsey is distributing a booklet published by the Contempo Men's Wear Guild of New York City. The booklet contains the recipe for the man who would earn a reputation for being well dressed. It points out that most men like to be known, but not notorious, for taste in clothes, and that the secret lies in perfectly harmonized accessories, and in a man's knowing what to wear with what.

The accessories presented in the booklet have all been especially designed under the supervision of Contempo Guild, whose staff includes the leading men's fashion authorities of the country. The groups of merchandise include shirts, ties, handkerchiefs, jewelry, socks, and belts—all of them in perfect harmony, and assembled in groups to be worn with the different color suits in a man's wardrobe. There are also groups of related sportswear for men who go in for action, and for those who take their sports from the side-lines. Specially harmonized groups showing underwear and robes are also presented, as well as groups for beachwear.

The Contempo Related Fashion idea is meeting with success because it gives a man the perfect color harmonies that would ordinarily take time and unusually fine taste to assemble. All a customer need do is tell the salesperson the color suit he is going to wear, and he is shown the proper ensemble—all pre-assembled by Contempo experts.

A total of 44,539 children participated in the recreational or playgrounds program, here, last Summer, Rev. Applegate summarized.

The idea presents a streamlined method of shopping, for it cuts down actual shopping time by more than half, and should be welcome news to men who prefer almost anything to a shopping orgy.

quarters are very sure now they have a really sign they can depend upon as working every time. And "Old Hannah" will be watched closer than ever when rain is needed.

Dick Hedges and Edwin Irwin are delivering from their patches to the groceries here, some of the finest kind of strawberries, both in size and quality. A well at Hedges and the Ashville village water plant has kept these growing berry plantations plenty supplied with water during this drouthy season.

Will Hall told us that recently he removed one of the very few post and rail fences if any others, in the county, at his farm in Scioto township. This fence, he said, was built 65 years ago this Summer and that some of the locust posts were yet fairly well preserved—good enough for further use.

appeared before Council and asked for the appropriation, an increase of $50 over 1938, and read a detailed report of the program and accomplishments last year.

The Board, which also includes Charles R. Starbuck, Stanley Outcault, Dr. Paul C. Van der Voort and E. J. Rose, this year proposes to buy 35 softballs and bats, five croquet sets, volley ball, net, game board, baseballs, bats and other equipment required for the five playgrounds, compared to three in 1938.

Playgrounds this year will include Midland school and Thorne avenue for colored children; Main Building, East End and Smith Place schools for white children, Rev. Applegate said.

According to Rev. Applegate, Haines and seven W.P.A. recreation leaders, last year were paid $6,523.10 in salaries for six to eight hour days. Up to May 1, 1938, the Federal government has paid Haines and his aids salaries of $2,726.22, and it is estimated that they will receive $3,489.68 more during May, June, July and August.

"This $100 for which you are asked seems little enough to spend to assure the city of an income in salaries, alone, such as this, Rev. Applegate told Council. Sheldon Shrieves immediately moved the adoption of the supplemental appropriation ordinance, and Karl Buckley seconded it. All members of Council, whose absence was again excused, due to illness, voted for it.

Police Chief Everett Downing, also at the meeting, heartily endorsed Rev. Applegate's statement that the program did more to keep children off the streets and reasonably safe from harm than anything ever attempted in the city, and urged its continuance this Summer.

"It's a great thing for the children and police department, too," he declared.

"This $100 for which you are asked seems little enough to spend to assure the city of an income in salaries, alone, such as this, Rev. Applegate told Council. Sheldon Shrieves immediately moved the adoption of the supplemental appropriation ordinance, and Karl Buckley seconded it. All members of Council, whose absence was again excused, due to illness, voted for it.

A total of 44,539 children participated in the recreational or playgrounds program, here, last Summer, Rev. Applegate summarized.

Police Chief Everett Downing, also at the meeting, heartily endorsed Rev. Applegate's statement that the program did more to keep children off the streets and reasonably safe from harm than anything ever attempted in the city, and urged its continuance this Summer.

"It's a great thing for the children and police department, too," he declared.

CONSTRUCTIVE COMPARISON

We believe any car you buy is a good car but naturally we believe BUICK gives you more for your money. What we started out to say was, "Beware of the salesman and his car if he resorts to knocking another make." One who does that will sell you short somewhere along the line.

If our car sells on an average for $27.64 less per cylinder; 90c less per horsepower; 2.9c less per pound; has $40.00 more in equipment; weighs from 200 to 500 pounds more for safety and stability; has about 50% more sales than it's nearest price-class car or has any other advantageous features, we would call that

There is no place in any business for the man who does not know and honestly tries to present his own product without knocking another.

We welcome the opportunity to drive a Buick to your front door so that you may make any comparison you may desire or check any statements you may have heard.
